HILL SLIDES ARE GROWING

Anderson Valley Road Crew Laboring On A Big Fault

Special Correspondence of The Press

ANDERSON VALLEY, Feb. 20. —The slide on the Fairbanks hill is still keeping the highway crew busy. With a steam shovel on the job it looked easy, but as soon as the crews started to fill in, the slide started down hill again. At present it looks like it will be some problem to handle.

George Studebaker was seriously ill last week but is now improving.

Gave Up Business.

Mr. and Mrs. Glasco Riggles and family have moved to Fort Bragg. Residents here regret their departure. The Meat Market and lunch room operated by them has been taken over by E. F. Bartlow who originally operated it.

D. V. Presley was a business visitor in Ukiah on Monday.

Will Have To Quit.

It is reported Foreman Ed Hogan has received orders to lay off all county men as well as CWA workers. These crews have been doing worthwhile work on the Ukiah-Boonville road which is greatly appreciated by valley residents.

Mrs. K. B. Wallach plans to pass next week with her daughter, Mrs. Mathew Del Fatti and family in Eureka. Mr. Wallach will take her up Saturday and go back for her the following week-end. We wish her a pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Knox, of Chicago, are guests at the Jordt home. Mr. Knox is a brother of Dr. Dorothy Jordt. This is their first trip to this section of California.

Mrs. Prather Better.

Earl Prather passed Sunday in Cloverdale with his wife, who is recovering from a serious operation. He reports Mrs. Prather is improving, which is good news to many friends here. Their son, Donald Prather, who was injured in a wreck some time ago, is now able to be about.

Club Changes Methods.

A meeting of the Anderson Valley Racing Club was held Tuesday evening. Max Rawles as president and Deady Furrer secretary-treasurer were re-elected for the coming year. Committees will be appointed by them to function in place of a board of directors.

Provided A Shower.

Mrs. L. P. Breslauer was hostess to a group of friends at the W. L. Witherell home recently, at a shower honoring Mrs. Carl Witherall.

A Dandy Show.

Anderson Valley went Western Saturday evening at the church benefit given in the Apple Hall under direction of Mrs. W. V. Ornbaun and while the fact that Mrs. Ornbaun was in charge was a guarantee an evening of fun was in store for them, no one was quite prepared for the wide variety of entertainment given and, if there's any truth in the old saying of "Laugh and grow fat" the majority of the community is going to be very much overweight. The program as a whole was very clever. The Hill Billy orchestra rendered many old favorites in a pleasing manner. Mrs. Ornbaun, in full cowboy regalia, boots and spurs included, brought down the house with her wild ride on Strawberry Roan, which, by the way was constructed by Berself and Mrs. J. L. Rector. Price Babcock in spite of his 76 years gave a fast jig dance that showed he could still step high, wide and handsome. He responded to demands for an encore with another one.

Joy Allen did some very clever tricks with his lariat and other numbers included an old-fashioned quadrille with the changes called by Mr. Babcock. A reading by Miss Beth Willis and a group of songs by cowboys and cowgirls gathered around a realistic campfire pleased all. There was a duet by two young cowboys, Pete Witherell and Wesley Crispin; solo by Miss Bonnie Keinoe; reading by Joe Rawles; duet, Miss Delcie Whipple and Horace Matheson; negro sketch, Miss Frieda Matheson and Edwin Matheson; duet, Mrs. D. A. Babcock and Mrs. George Price; solo, Joe Rawles; groups of songs by Hill Billies and cowgirls and cowboys—which, like the most of the program were in keeping with the west of old and everyone taking part in the program was in costume — all were enjoyed. The orchestra was composed of O. H. Robinson; Joy Allen; Marshall McGimsey; Leslie Leger. Joe Rawles, Jean Smalley and Elbert Tolman.

Had A Full House.

Mrs. Ornbaun appreciates the support of the community. Before starting time every seat was taken and a truck was rushed down to the high school for additional chairs but many that came in late were forced to stand. Refreshments were sold at the close of the program.

Nice Sum Netted.

A substantial sum was realized and will go to the Methodist church.

A. R. Johnson and J. D. Farr passed the week-end at the Johnson home in Berkeley.

At Ornbaun Home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Ornbaun had as guests over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Leger, of Lower Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Manning, of San Rafael, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. St. John, of Walnut Creek. The three ladies are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ornbaun.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Presley and sons motored to Ukiah Friday evening.

How About It?

Housewives in this section are wondering why the P. G. & E. usually picks Monday or Saturday forenoon to turn off the power to work on the line, as it is not emergency work for they warn everyone a day or two beforehand and if anyone was expecting to use electric appliances it would be in the forenoon.

Ronald Bennett is here for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett.

UKIAH BAKERS WILL PUT PRUNE BREAD ON THE LOCAL COUNTERS

Effort At Co-Operation Is Being Made To Aid Growers

California prune bread, which has been introduced with outstanding success in many large eastern cities, will be put on the market in Ukiah this week through arrangements which have been made by the United Prune Growers of California with local bakers.

Story Of Prune Bread.

Plans have been formulated by the United Prune Growers of California to secure a widespread distribution of prune bread and it is hoped that before the end of the present campaign every baker in Mendocino county will be making this bread and that every bakery and grocery store will be offering it for sale as a regular feature. Prune bread was first offered for sale in the San Francisco bay area early last summer. It was made according to a formula developed by the United Prune Growers, working in co-operation with the California Dried Fruit Research Institute. Following the initial success of the bread in the bay cities, production was started in a number of large eastern centers, including New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City.

Now Is Popular.

Since the first of the year, several of the largest bakers in the country have been baking prune bread. One baker in Chicago is now producing 15,000 loaves a week, another in Newark, New Jersey, is selling 8000 a week and one in Boston 10,000 a week. It is estimated throughout the country more than 225,000 loaves a week are now being baked and sold.

Helps The Growers.

Prune bread provides a profitable outlet for surplus prune stocks which in the past have been a serious problem for the prune industry. As the demand for prune bread increases it is hoped this outlet not only will absorb a large percentage of these surplus stocks but also that it will be possible to dispose of this tonnage at higher prices than it has brought in the past.

What Is Hoped For.

In announcing the prune bread campaign for the Ukiah district, Ray Randall, advertising manager of the United Prune Growers of California, asserted: "Prune bread introduced in an experimental way less than nine months ago, has become firmly established as an important bakery product in many parts of the country. The demand for this new specialty bread is increasing steadily and every week we receive reports that additional bakers have started baking prune bread for their customers. The prune bread campaign which we began this week in the Ukiah territory will give residents of this important prune-growing district an opportunity to try prune bread for themselves. We sincerely hope every family in Ukiah and the surrounding country will take advantage of this opportunity and will buy at least one loaf of prune bread so that they may be familiar with this new prune product which is proving so popular in other parts of the United States."

Its far-flung geographical structure or "statewideness," makes for unusual stability through a widespread distribution of resources. Bank of America is conservatively and ably managed by far-visioned, long-experienced executives who fully realize their responsibility to over one million depositors and to the 248 communities in which the bank operates 415 branches.
